A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Destruction of the Cheesebrough Refinery, Brooklyn, Involving $10,000 Worth of Sugar.

From the Brooklyn (N.Y.) Daily Eagle, Feb. 27.

Another terrible conflagration has added to the list of fires which have occurred in this city. At about 11 o'clock last Saturday night the town was alarmed by the cry of fire. The flames were issuing from the roof of the building on the corner of Lorimer and Powell streets, and the wind was blowing strongly from the east and west, thereby increasing the progress of the fire. Engine after engine came rushing to the scene, but the flames had gained such headway that the firemen were powerless to stay the progress of the fire for a long time. When it was finally subdued the entire roof was burned off, and the interior of the building was a mass of ruins. The loss is estimated at $10,000, and is partially covered by insurance. The building was occupied by Mr. Cheesebrough as a refinery for sugar, and the stock on hand was valued at $50,000. The insurance on the stock is $30,000. The building was owned by Mr. Cheesebrough, and was insured for $5,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

A general interest was manifested in all the proceedings at the Capitol to-day. The Supreme Court room was full at the opening of the House, and all who could find room were attracted there. The appearance of the Managers of the Impeachment was expected at the bar of the Senate, and all who could find room were attracted there. The Senate was not in session, on the part of the House, and the galleries

IMPEACHING SCENES IN THE SENATE.

The formal announcement of the impeachment of the President by the House of Representatives, however, was made to an audience as still as death, and to spite of its more formal character, made a deep impression.

ADDITIONAL ARTICLES.

It soon became known that the managers had not half done here, and, after a session of two hours, had agreed to report two additional articles. This caused the rush of spectators to the House. The report was made about 4 o'clock, when the House was sent to the Clerk's desk for the articles of impeachment, and the Clerk read them to the House. SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 2.

On motion of Mr. SUMNER, the Senate took a recess of ten minutes.

On reassembling, Mr. SUMNER said: I am directed by the Committee on Foreign Relations to report back the bill to prohibit the sale of arms to the Indians, and to recommend its passage.

Mr. TATE, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported back the bill to provide for the sale of the Des Moines River lands, and for the relief of settlers thereon, and asked for its immediate consideration.

Mr. HOWARD objected to the consideration of the bill at present.

Mr. TATE then moved to take up the bill to provide for the sale of the Des Moines River lands, and for the relief of settlers thereon.

Mr. HOWARD moved to lay the motion on the table.

Mr. TATE called for the yeas and nays on the motion to lay on the table, which were ordered, and resulted—yeas 17, nays 27.

So the motion was not laid on the table.

Mr. TATE then moved to take up the bill.

Mr. HOWARD moved to lay the motion to take up the bill
